From the Principal

Wow the term is really flying by, all students are working hard and are well on their way to achieving their goals before school reports go out. School photos went extremely well last Monday with some lovely shots taken on the day.

National Simultaneous Storytime

Last Wednesday I had the absolute pleasure of participating in the National Simultaneous Storytime program at the Terang campus. This program is ran Australia wide and has participants from schools, kindergartens, childcare centres, public libraries and many more outlets. The morning consists of everyone reading the same Australian picture book at exactly 11:00 on Wednesday May 22nd. The book this year by Australian author Matt Cosgrove was Alpaca's with Maracas that was a very humorous rhyming story that all the students loved!

Uniforms

Please continue to make sure your child is in full school uniform, there has been a notable improvement by most students with only a small majority still needing to make some adjustments. Please note that the sport top is for sport days not every day wear. We are making this a priority for the school to endorse school pride. We are proud of our school and want all our students wearing our uniform proudly. Students who do not comply will be unable to attend host schools or extracurricular activities outside of the school.

Last Friday students from Later Years and Middle Years went to Deakin University where they had the opportunity to try different careers for the day. All students reported that it was a very rewarding experience.

Cross Campus Visit

On Wednesday our Later Years students paid a visit to the Early years campus where Tegan's class taught them what they had learned about the solar system. They then participated in some peer-to-peer tutoring learning about measurement.

Art

Our arts program at both campuses is dynamic with all students producing some amazing art works. Budding artists of Hampden Specialist School!!
